Guide to Cycling Around Taiwan
Taiwan is a truly beautiful place. Since there are many wonderful places on this small island waiting for us to discover, a round-the-island cycling journey in Taiwan will definitely leave us with many valuable and unforgettable memories! With the “Cycling Route 1” manual, we hope that all round-the-island cyclists can complete their trips smoothly and joyfully! Actions speak louder than words. Why not take your bicycle out now and start a round-the-island journey?

We hope that all of you who are about to set out on the round-the-island trip will have a happy and safe journey, and leave with some of the best memories of your life.

“Professional information made easy to understand” is the main feature of this handbook.

Functionality

Since we want to attract both professional cyclists and tourist cyclists through this manual, we hope to provide professional information without leaving out the interesting parts. By explaining complex concepts in layman’s terms, we hope this manual will be easy for all our readers to understand!

Readability

Since we hope that this manual will be easy for everyone to understand (and not limited to professional cyclists), we make a special effort to arrange all text and illustrations in a travelogue format. We also provide professional cyclists with vital information such as grade lines, supply stations, and global positioning system (GPS) data.

The first question that anyone with the dream of riding around Taiwan might ask yourself is, “Am I physically fit or young enough to do this?” The most important part of a round-the-island cycling trip is having the resolution and determination needed to do it.

A word of warning: Before you start out on your journey, please carefully assess your personal health. If you have health issues like cardiovascular disease, chronic disease or a rare disease, please contact your personal physician for a professional assessment. In addition, be sure not to do more than you can handle during your journey. Round-the-island cycling can be flexible and adjusted to your personal physical condition and targeted destinations. For those in excellent health, extra cycling miles can be added to the recommended itinerary. For those in average health or who want to admire the island’s beauty at a slower pace, more days can be added to the recommended itinerary. Generally speaking, a round-the-island cycling trip can be completed within 7 to 12 days. In this handbook, we recommend that cyclists complete the trip (a total of 939.5 kilometers) within 10 to 12 days, which is equivalent to less than 90 kilometers per day. Based on an average speed of 20 kilometers/hour, cyclists can reach their temporal destinations within 4.5 hours per day. For those who bike 50 kilometers per week or who have already conquered 100-kilometer journeys, this will not be difficult.

For those who don’t have the habit of regular exercise, please follow the “333 Rule.” You should exercise at least 3 times per week for at least 30 minutes at a time, and reach a heart rate of 130 beats per minute or higher. On weekends or holidays, please increase the amount of time you exercise. Make sure that you can complete a 100-kilometer-ride at a time before you attempt this trip. The entire training period should be no less than 2 months. For those of you who don’t own a bicycle and wish to rent one for the trip, jogging may be a suitable training method for you. For those of you who have knee problems or who don’t like to jog, endurance exercises such as swimming or indoor cycling may be a good choice.

The most indispensable elements of the round-the-island cycling trip lie in the cyclist’s resolution and perseverance. With a heart full of determination, everyone can conquer this beautiful island!

Climbing is the greatest challenge!

The greatest challenge on this journey is the constant climbing and tough cycling against the wind in the eastern part of Taiwan. Therefore, please be sure to arrange climbing training for biking uphill, and control techniques for biking downhill. In addition, you can ride your bike along coastline bikeways, where winds are relatively strong. And, though slopes and distance are certain challenges, strong winds are far more unpredictable. Therefore, please maintain high rates of pedaling in low gears when you ride against the wind.

Endurance makes your journey safe and fun!

As cycling mileage gradually increases, a cyclist’s physical condition drops and his or her fatigue level rises. Before you reach the end of your journey, you’ll find it hard to take another step – each step seems to be heavier as you step on the pedal. Since integrating exercise into your daily life is the only way to train your cardiorespiratory endurance, you should arrange your exercise efficiently. For example, regular exercise for 1 hour a day, 7 hours a week beats intensive exercises only on weekends. Smart eating habits are also key. Try to maintain your weight by eating natural foods.
Having a suitable bike and accessories are just half the battle. Strong ambition is the only way to success.

Bike Categories

Bikes can be separated into several categories based on function: road bikes, mountain bikes, cruiser bikes and portable bikes. Since cruiser bikes provide cyclists with a greater load capacity and a more comfortable riding sensation, they are most suitable for long-distance traveling. Mountain bikes can be upgraded by installing a pannier and rack bag. Road bikes feature high cruising speed but lower loading capacity, making them less suitable for round-the-island trips unless there is a supporting team backing you up. Portable bikes are not at all suitable for long-distance journeys.

Bike Accessories

During a round-the-island cycling trip, cyclists must constantly step on the pedals to complete their journey. Therefore, it is vital for cyclists to understand every part of their bike and each the distinct functions of each component before they hit the road.

[Bicycle Transmission System]
By altering the gear ratio, cyclists can freely adjust the bike speed to their preferred level.

[Braking System]
Be sure to check the wear and tear of your braking system before you hit the road. If your braking system is badly worn, be sure to replace it with a new one.

[Pannier & Rack Bag]
For those of you going on a round-the-island journey, a pannier and rack bag can be installed on the bike to add overall loading capacity.

[Water Bottle & Bottle Rack]
To prevent your water bottle from falling out of the bottle rack during bumpy road conditions, firmly secure the bottle to the rack.

[Bike Saddle]
Since you will be highly dependent on your bike throughout your entire journey, be sure to select a bike saddle you’re most comfortable with.

[Bike Light]
Select a high-intensity and power-efficient LED light, and make sure that you are visible to all drivers passing by.
Light and essential is the best preparation strategy for a round-the-island journey.

Personal Wear

[Helmet]
Make sure that the helmet you select is labeled with a qualification mark.

[Eyewear]
Make sure that the eyewear you select is equipped with anti-ultraviolet, wind-breaking, and dust-proof functions.

[Cycling Jerseys and Cycling Shorts]
Select cycling jerseys and cycling shorts that are specifically designed for cyclists and keep you dry during your ride. If you choose regular clothing, avoid loose garments as they can become entangled in the bike chain and gears.

[Bike Watch]
Please select a bike watch that can calculate data such as bike speed and mileage.

[Headwear/Sleeves/Gloves]
Make sure that the headwear, sleeves, and gloves you choose can protect you from direct sunlight.

[Sports Shoes]
If you wear clipless shoes, be sure to buckle your shoes up properly for direct pedaling power. If you wear typical sports shoes, please tighten the shoelaces firmly to prevent them from getting caught up in the bike gears.

Personal Belongings

Since almost every area of Taiwan is highly developed, you can easily get all kinds of daily necessities and other supplies anywhere. Except for preparing warm clothes for winter, be sure to keep your personal belongings as simple as possible to reduce your overall load.

[Personal Items]
Prepare 2 to 3 items of clothing (adding warm clothes depending on actual weather conditions). A simple windbreaker and light raincoat are a must. Most hotels and motels nowadays provide bathroom supplies for customers. Delicate equipment such as mobile phones must be kept inside a waterproof bag. Since the voltage in Taiwan is 110V/60Hz, make sure that all electronic devices you pack fit this specification. Apply sunscreen to your skin to prevent prolonged sunlight exposure and potential sunburn. While most hotels and restaurants will accept credit cards, businesses in remote areas such as night market vendors will only accept cash. Please note that the New Taiwan Dollar (NTD) is the official currency used in Taiwan.

Based on scheduled routes provided in this manual, our cyclists will encounter supply stations every 20 kilometers along the journey. Since long-distance bike riding can consume large amounts of calories, please prepare some light snacks such as bread, bananas, or cookies.

[Hand Tools]
Please select multifunctional hand tools, such as the 25-in-1 hand tool set currently available on the market. A simple multifunctional hand tool set allows for simple repairs and maintenance. With an additional tire iron and pump, flat tires can be easily dealt with.
Round-the-island journeys can be long or short. Be sure to do some pre-trip planning so you can travel with ease.

Cycling Route No. 1 as presented in this manual has a total length of 939.5 kilometers (excluding the Suhua Highway) and can be completed within 10 to 12 days —equivalent approximately to a maximum of 115 kilometers per day. Based on an average riding speed of 20 kilometers/hour, each destination can be reached within 6 hours.

Based on the route arrangement in this manual, county governments, city governments and district offices in different places are taken as the starting points and final destinations, while provincial highways are designated as the cycling route so as to prevent cyclists from taking detours or losing their way.

As to whether you proceed in a clockwise or counterclockwise direction, it is recommended that you start out from Taipei and proceed in a counterclockwise direction. As challenges in your journey gradually increase, you can take the first few days as an opportunity to train your body and develop your riding technique. The first challenge you will encounter is in ascending the slope at Shouka (at the boundary between Pingtung and Taitung), the second is on the route between Taitung and Yuli (where cyclists must ride against strong winds depending on the season), and the last is on the twisting and treacherous roadways between Taipei and Yilan. These are the three main challenges cyclists will face during their round-the-island journey.

Tip: Round-the-Island Cycling Certificate

The Cycling Life Style Foundation (CLSF) will issue an official certificate to cyclists after they complete their round-the-island journey. Family and friends of cyclists can search the current location of cyclists at any time via the CLSF official website, for safety and peace of mind.

[How to find partners.]

Both traveling solo and as a team are interesting in different ways. It is recommended that first-time travelers travel as a team, ideally with 4 to 8 partners. Too many partners can lead to difficult management and differences of opinion regarding how you travel. It is also recommended that each partner focus on his/her specialized tasks and work as a team member. For example, one team member may be good at bike repair and maintenance, while another may be good at route planning.

[How to select accommodation.]

Accommodation is where a cyclist spends most of his/her budget! Bed & breakfasts and hotels are popular among round-the-island cyclists. And of course the cheapest way is to stay overnight is at the home of a friend or family member. If you love nature, camping might sound like a good idea; but make sure that the place you choose is open for camping to ensure your personal safety.

[What to eat.]

What should you eat before, during, and after bike riding? Since round-the-island cycling takes huge amounts of time and energy, be sure to avoid greasy food and eat several small meals each day.

Before exercise, it is recommended that you eat natural food (such as whole grains, lean meat, fruit and vegetables). During exercise, it is recommended that you eat convenience foods (such as portable energy gels, energy drinks, or local snacks like pineapple cake or sun cake). It is recommended that thirty minutes after exercise, you eat a light meal (such as fruit or bread) to replenish your energy!
Various resources on the Internet can support you throughout your journey.

Tip: Useful Tools that May Come in Handy

Wireless networks have long been integrated into our daily lives. In this manual, we provide some network resources that may come in handy. We wish you a smooth and wonderful round-the-island journey through the use of these various tools.
Start out from your heart & fulfill your round-the-island dream!
Route: Taipei > Sanxia > Daxi Old Street > Shimen > Guanxi City God Temple > Hsinchu

Main Roads: Provincial Highway 3 > County Road 118

Route Guide: With the twisting and turning of the mountain roads, cyclists must traverse downslopes slowly. Along the way they can try different kinds of local snacks, visit the longest Old Street in Taiwan in Sanxia, take photos at Shimen Dam, and try some grass jelly ice at the Guanxi City God Temple after a full day of tiring bike riding.

Scenic Spots

3 23km 新北 New Taipei City – Sanxia Old Street
24°56’00.3”N 121°22’10.8”E

With a total length of 260 meters, Sanxia Old Street is the longest old street in Taiwan. The architecture has been well maintained and preserved ever since the early years of the Republic of China. An old street with old designs never fails to evoke feelings of nostalgia.

3 77km 新竹 Hsinchu – Qiedong Scenic Boulevard
24°46’33.8”N 120°57’13.4”E

Dubbed as one of the eight top night scenes of Hsinchu District, Qiedong Scenic Boulevard is the first scenic boulevard built in Hsinchu. With intensive illumination and artistic bridge design, visitors can make use of the scenic outlooks and recreation areas to get a distant view of Hsinchu City.

Tip: Complete your round-the-island cycling journey without a bike!

Giant Bicycles provides round-the-island cyclists with the best rental services at a reasonable price.

Into the Windy City: Ride against the Wind

Route: Hsinchu > Zhunan > Houlong > Tongxiao > Yuanli > Dajia > Qingshui > Shalu > Taichung
Main Roads: Provincial Highway 61 > Provincial Highway 1 > Provincial Highway 12

Route Guide: Riding on Provincial Highway 61 in the western part of Taiwan, cyclists must use great amounts of energy and effort to pump the pedals and buck the strong coastal wind. However, don’t get too exhausted here; save some energy for the windy Dadu Plateau (though it is only 200 meters in altitude). After reaching the summit, you will arrive in sunny and culture-rich Taichung City.

Scenic Spots

1 153.5km 大甲 Dajia – Jenn Lann Temple
24°20’43.1"N 120°37’24.8"E

Built in 1730, Dajia Jenn Lann Temple is widely famous for its 9-Day Dajia Mazu Pilgrimage Procession in the third lunar month each year. At this time, hundreds of thousands of worshipers flock to the temple from almost everywhere to celebrate the birthday of Mazu, Goddess of the Sea.

2 109km 後龍 Houlong – Haowangjiao
24°36’09.7"N 120°43’51.9"E

Haowangjiao in Houlong District boasts the most intensive field of wind turbines in Taiwan. With gigantic wind turbines, blue skies and white clouds, picturesque scenery meets the visitor’s eyes at every turn.

3 125.5km 通霄 Tongxiao – Taiyen Museum
24°33’22.9"N 120°42’17.9"E

Taiyen Museum is a tourist factory that displays a unique salt manufacturing process. This museum, which is free of charge, is the first tourist factory in Taiwan that combines high-tech salt manufacturing processing with salt industry education in Taiwan.

Tip: How to reduce hip pain.

The first key to reducing hip pain is to distribute your weight evenly across the handlebars, seat, and pedals. Secondly, choose a seat and cycling pants that suit your needs. Third, adjust your posture properly as you ride on the bike. For example, you can choose to stand up in the face of a mild slope. This way, you can utilize different muscles in your body.

The “bubbles” in bubble tea are actually tapioca starch balls. After pouring sweet and creamy milk tea into the cup, bubble tea is ready to serve. Bubble tea is a widely popular drink sold at almost every drink stand around Taiwan.
Route: Taichung > Changhua > Yuanlin > Beidou > Xiluo > Dounan > Minxiong > Chiayi
Main Road: Provincial Highway 1

Route Guide: Today’s bike ride is mainly through gentle landscapes. Since several renowned scenic spots are along the way, it is recommended that you arrange plenty of short breaks for taking photographs. Be extra careful of traffic conditions on Provincial Highway 1. As you approach the city center, be sure to follow traffic signs, passing vehicles and carefully making use of hand gestures to signal vehicles behind you.

21 60km 魚池 Yuchi – Sun Moon Lake
23°51’31.5”N 120°54’57.2”E

Located in Sun Moon Village (Yuchi Township, Nantou County), Sun Moon Lake gets its name from the shapes of its two parts, Sun Lake and Moon Lake. Sun Moon Lake is not only a famous tourist attraction popular among international visitors, but is also Taiwan’s second largest lake and largest natural lake. In addition, its water is used to operate a hydropower plant. Its picturesque scenery has won Sun Moon Lake the title of one of the eight top scenic spots in Taiwan!

Route Guide: Round-the-Lake Road

The round-the-lake road winds up and down all along the lakeshore. For those who are not familiar with bike riding, this might be a daunting route. Before you hit the road, be sure to check the brake pads systems on either side of your bike, make sure that braking force is evenly distributed and familiarize yourself with the braking system for the front and back wheels. Better yet, ask experienced cyclists for professional guidance.

Widely known for largest inner bay in Taiwan, the Dapeng Bay National Scenic Area is also home to a diversity of animal and plant species. A drawbridge across the bay is raised when boats approach.

Tip: Preventing Heat Stroke

To prepare yourself against heat stroke during your bike journey, you should get a breathable, UV-proof jersey, arm covers, head covering and sunglasses. During the ride, you need to drink water frequently and that means about 1 sip every 15 minutes (approximately 150ml, depending on exercise intensity and current temperature).
Sakura shrimp are native only to Donggang Town in Pingtung and Shizuoka in Japan. They can be cooked and eaten as a delicious light snack or used to make Sakura shrimp fried rice.
Route: Checheng > Mudan > Shouka > Daren > Dawu > Jinlun > Taimali > Zhiben > Taitung City

Main Roads: Provincial Highway 26 > County Highway 199 > Provincial Highway 11

Challenge: You’ll encounter your first challenge of the round-the-island journey here.

Route Guide: As you bike away from southern Taiwan along Provincial Highway 199, the ascending slope will make your ride even more difficult; but if you keep a positive attitude and believe you can do it, then you’ll soon be at the top.

9 326km 池上 Chishang – Mr. Brown Avenue
23°05'57.7"N  121°12'57.5"E

Riding along Mr. Brown Avenue, you will pass through green fields of endless space. This road has been nicknamed “Green Paradise Road” due to its natural beauty.

Tip: How to change gears

Changing gears is the most complicated part of riding a bike, but if you master it then it will be easy for you to ride on both flat roads and hills. The idea is the same as changing gears in a manual transmission car. It is best to keep your pedaling speed above 70 rpm, and for maximum efficiency you should aim for 80-90 rpm.
Chishang is known as Taiwan Rice Town, and the Chishang bento box, made with thin wooden strips that give the rice a distinctive flavor, often come with the town’s namesake rice, barbecued meat, marinated egg, sausage, and pickles.
Route: Yuli > Ruisui > Fenglin > Jian > Hualien City
Main Road: Provincial Highway 9

Route Guide: When riding along Provincial Highway 9, you will encounter fragrant rice fields, fresh green vegetation, sparrows standing on top of electricity poles, and schoolchildren returning from school waving and smiling at you. It's the people themselves that are indeed the most beautiful scenery you'll see during your round-the-island journey.

Scenic Spots

276km 瑞穗 Ruisui – Tropic of Cancer Monument Park
23°27'55.7"N 121°21'28.6"E

By the time you pass over the Tropic of Cancer for the second time, you will have completed nearly two-thirds of your journey. At the Tropic of Cancer Monument Park, you can easily find the landmark resembling a white sundial.

252km 光復 Guangfu – Hualien Sugar Factory
23°39'24.3"N 121°25'11.8"E

The Hualien Sugar Factory is famous for its popsicles and ice cream, which never fail to provide cyclists with cool relief from the intense summer heat. Because the factory is no longer in use, there is extra space that now houses a cultural center with guided tours that introduce the factory and explains its history.

201km 花蓮 Hualien – Qixingtan
24°01'50.8"N 121°37'46.3"E

Legend has it that under good weather conditions, people can clearly see stars reflected in the sea here. And that’s exactly why people call it “Seven Stars Lake.”

Tip: A Round-the-Island Journey will make your body fitter

If you ride 100 km a day you burn more than 2,000 calories, but that doesn’t give you freedom to eat whatever you want. You should have no trouble losing a couple of kilograms in 10 days of round-the-island cycling.

[Wonton Soup]

Wonton dumplings are made by spreading a square wrapper (a thin dough skin made of flour, egg, water, and salt) flat in the palm of one's hand, placing a small amount of filling (minced pork) in the center, and sealing the dumpling into the desired shape by compressing the wrapper's edges together. After boiling the dumplings in a pot of clear soup, the Wonton Soup is ready to serve!
The Luodong Cultural Working House is set in a location with unobstructed views of the surrounding scenery. During construction, a frame 18 meters off the ground was built and the building was placed upon it. The design of the center looks like a large spaceship when viewed from a distance.

You might be wondering why this cycling trip involves a train ride. The Suhua (Su’ao-Hualien) Highway is the most scenic highway in Taiwan, but it is also the most dangerous. Since there are always many gravel trucks and other heavy trucks speeding along the Suhua Highway (in addition to countless slopes along the meandering roadway and potential dangers hidden in tunnels), it is recommended that you take a train instead of biking to ensure your safety. Since only highly experienced cyclists with careful pre-planning are capable of conquering this roadway, we didn’t incorporate the Suhua Highway into the itinerary of this manual.

Information about buying a train ticket for you and your bike

For those with non-folding bikes such as road bikes and mountain bikes, it is recommended that you take a train from Hualien Station to Su’ao New Station. To take your bike on the train, you will need to buy a ticket for your bike, which is half the price of your own ticket. There are 9 trains that run from 5am to 8pm (please refer to the train schedule posted by the Taiwan Railways Administration before you take the train). The total traveling time is approximately 1 hour and 20 minutes. Please note that the trains do not allow bikes during the Chinese New Year Holidays or peak hours.

This park is on the upper reaches of the Dongshan River and covers an area of 16 hectares. You’ll get to see greenery almost everywhere – the trees here are carefully cultivated to make soil and water conservation a reality.

Tip: Bring a Smile to the Weary Traveler

The further out of the city you go, the more often you will hear people yelling “Jia you, jia you” which is a term of encouragement. Happiness comes from interacting with people so a simple nod, a wave or a “Ni hao” are great ways to greet people and say hello. You’ll be surprised at how many people will give you a thumbs up, a hug or a cheer. This will bring a smile to even the weariest rider. Many visitors say that the most beautiful thing in Taiwan is not the scenery but the people that live here.

[Stuffed Tapioca Balls]

Stuffed Tapioca Balls are a sweet delicacy widely popular in Yilan. The stuffing of whole adzuki beans into the black tapioca pearls provides visitors with a special texture which is soft on the outside and hard on the inside. These balls are served warm with shaved ice and sweet tofu, egg pudding, or grass jelly. The contrast of the warm and cold ingredients gives this dessert a wonderful taste and texture.
Route: Toucheng > Fulong > Shifen > Keelung > Xizhi > Taipei City

Main Roads: Provincial Highway 2 > Provincial Highway 2C > Provincial Highway 2D > Provincial Highway 5

Route Guide: While drenched in sweat and peddling under the scorching hot sun, the green mountains and blue sea along the way are what motivate you to keep going. Go! Go! Go! You’re almost there, and you’re setting a record for your round-the-island cycling journey!

24°59’38.7”N 121°57’30.8”E

After a major overhaul was completed in 2008, the Old Caoling Tunnel was reopened to the public. With a total length of 2,167 meters, Old Caoling Tunnel is the first railway tunnel to be transformed into a bikeway tunnel in Taiwan.

Tip: Bike Maintenance
Prevention is always better than cure. By taking care of your bike, you can prevent mechanical problems. If you spend 10 minutes after a ride to ensure that your bike is in good working order, it should run smoothly for the whole trip. You should start by using a wet towel to wipe down your bike, and then clean your chain and gears with a soft brush. It is important to check your brake pads and tire pressure, especially after riding on a rainy day.

You should oil the chain and rotate the pedals to allow each section of the chain to be evenly lubricated. Afterwards, use a dry cloth to wipe away excessive oil. If you are having problems shifting or your tire is severely damaged, you should take your bike into a shop for repairs.

5 2km 臺北 Taipei – Taipei 101
24°01’50.8”N 121°37’46.3”E
